Pick up, Transportation, Drop Off

- Injuries

Once food items have reached their expiration date, items will be disposed of accordingly.

- Safety Standards

By working with the Santa Barbara Food Bank and SBCC food service, the SBCC Food Bank will develop a system for dating food supplies and maintaining optimal health and safety standards.

Disposal

The SBCC Food Bank space will be accessible to the SBCC population and comply with ADA Campus policies. The location of the SBCC food bank is to be determined.

To be eligible to use the SBCC Food Bank, a person must be a currently enrolled SBCC student. This practice is based on UCSB's Associated Students Food Bank, where any UCSB student can receive the service by presenting student identification. Food is already inaccessible and we do not wish to create additional criteria that may discourage people from wanting to access this service. However, if we sense that there is any misuse or abuse of the service we will establish membership requirements as necessary.

Section 1. Mission Statement

Vision

As a public educational institution, Santa Barbara City College offers a premier experience that enhances the creative and intellectual abilities of the diverse communities that it serves. However, in an environment of budget cuts and fee increases, students are facing new challenges that affect their performance as students and derail their academic and career goals. We are committed to promoting the retention and welfare of every student here at SBCC by developing programs and services that directly address students' needs.

Mission

The SBCC Food Bank is a student-run service that is available to all currently enrolled SBCC students. We aim to eradicate hunger from our campus community by providing basic food supplies, toiletries, and information about additional resources to students in need.

In order to promote the comfort and moral support of students, the SBCC Food Bank will be accessible during regular school hours and will respect the confidentiality of its users.

Section 2. Student Need and Demand

Student Need

The issue of student hunger has been a growing concern for our campus community. As tuition levels continue to rise, more students are forced to cut back from their daily expenses, which most often happen to be food. The reported number of students who are dealing with hunger on a daily basis is rising at an alarming rate.

The Student Financial/Food Need Survey conducted by the Student Senate anonymously surveyed 1,078 currently enrolled students to assess the level of financial need and access to food at SBCC. Our findings reveal that 46.6% of students (502) students find themselves skipping meals to save money. Additionally, 94.5% (1,019) students stated that they feel there is a need for a food bank here on campus, while 62.2% (671) said they would use the service if it existed. Furthermore, 52.9% (570) of the students stated that their combined income from all sources including financial aid, scholarships, grants, and employment is not sufficient towards providing for their basic needs at SBCC. The empirical data collected in this survey demonstrates that there is a growing need and demand among SBCC students for a Food Bank service.

Section 3. Food Bank Operations and Procedures

Eligibility

To be eligible to use the SBCC Food Bank, a person must be a currently enrolled SBCC student. This practice is based on UCSB's Associated Students Food Bank, where any UCSB student can receive the service by presenting student identification. Food is already inaccessible and we do not wish to create additional criteria that may discourage people from wanting to access this service. However, if we sense that there is any misuse or abuse of the service we will establish membership requirements as necessary.

A list of referrals will be developed to help individuals who seek the resources of the SBCC Food Bank, but are not registered students.

Hours of Distribution

Internal Controls and Reporting Duties

The Santa Barbara City College Food Bank will hereby be operated as a non-profit organization by the students for the students of SBCC. The organization will derive its authority directly from the SBCC student senate and

Resources Provided: Food and Toiletries

The Student Senate will become a member of the Santa Barbara Food Bank and distribute free food and supplies directly to currently enrolled students. The SBCC Food Bank will purchase non-perishable food from the Food Bank, as well as receive any donations from community donors every week.

Facilities

The SBCC Food Bank space will be accessible to the SBCC population and comply with ADA Campus policies. The location of the SBCC food bank is to be determined.

Disposal

By working with the Santa Barbara Food Bank and SBCC food service, the SBCC Food Bank will develop a system for dating food supplies and maintaining optimal health and safety standards.

Injuries

If student staff members are injured while fulfilling their work responsibilities for the Food Bank, we will have them fill out an incident report and refer them to student health. We will follow all federal, state, and university guidelines in dealing with any injuries.

Pick up, Transportation, Drop Off

- Assessments and Governance

Section 4 Outreach Plan

Informing Students about the SBCC Food Bank

Students will find out about the SBCC Food Bank program through the publicity and outreach efforts of the Student Senate. We regularly advertise our programs and services through class announcements, tabling, and student media sources.
Informing Faculty and Staff about the SBCC Food Bank

To educate and inform the staff and faculty about the SBCC Food Bank, the SBCC Food Bank ad hoc committee can offer presentations about the service to departments. It is critical that counselors and other student services providers know to refer students to the SBCC Food Bank.
