Impacted Undergraduate Majors and Campuses in the California State University

2007-08 Impacted Majors Grid (23k, .pdf)

An undergraduate major or campus is designated as impacted when the number of applications received during the initial filing period exceeds the number of available spaces. Such majors or campuses are authorized to use supplementary admission criteria to screen applications.

There are subtle, yet important, differences between major and campus impact. Major impact means that the number of eligible students to a designated major on a CSU campus during the initial filing period far exceeds the number of spaces available. However, students can still be admitted to the campus in an alternate major, or they may eventually be admitted to the campus if they meet the supplementary admission criteria. Cal Poly San Luis Obispo continues to be impacted in all majors.

Campus impact (otherwise known as campuswide impact) means that a campus has exhausted existing enrollment capacity due to instructional resources and physical capacity of the campus, and because the campus receives more eligible applicants during the application filing period than can be accommodated, the campus must therefore restrict enrollment to the campus for a specific academic year (first-time freshmen). Currently, Fullerton, Long Beach, Cal Poly Pomona, San Diego, and Sonoma are designated as impacted CSU campuses.

Students interested in an impacted major or campus must apply for admission during the initial filing period of October through December.
The Importance of Major Preparation

- Prepares students for upper-division work
- Highly selective/impacted majors evaluate students based on major preparation completed prior to transfer.
- Prep for major coursework should be a higher priority than IGETC or CSU GE/Breadth.
General Education

- Each school and college at every UC and CSU campus has general education ("breadth") requirements.

- CCC students have the option to complete IGETC (UC & CSU) or the CSU GE/Breadth to satisfy lower-division GE requirements.
  - IGETC is not an admissions eligibility requirement.

- Completing GE, either through IGETC or campus-specific requirements, may be a selection requirement for some UC campuses and programs.

- IGETC may not be the best path for majors that require extensive lower-division major preparation; students should plan carefully.
SBCC Course Articulation & ASSIST

- The UC Transferable Course Agreement (TCA) and CSU transferable course information can be found at www.assist.org

- Some SBCC courses have also been identified as equivalent to lower-division courses at individual UC and/or CSU campuses.

- Articulation Agreements also provide students with a road map to preparing for specific majors at each UC and/or CSU campus.

- Some transferable SBCC courses are considered comparable to those offered at the lower division at UC and/or CSU and fulfill requirements for specific majors.

- Students should use ASSIST (www.assist.org) to find:
  - SBCC courses that are UC and/or CSU transferable
  - Courses that fulfill major-preparation requirements
  - Courses that fulfill IGETC and/or CSU GE/Breadth

- ASSIST “Exploring Majors” feature also helps students choose campuses and majors.
ASSIST: GE, IGETC, AI, Major Prep, Majors

Welcome to ASSIST

ASSIST is an online student transfer information system that shows how course credits earned at one public California college or university can be applied when transferred to another. ASSIST is the official repository of articulation for California's public colleges and universities and provides the most accurate and up-to-date information about student transfer in California.

There are two ways to look up information in ASSIST.

Transfer Admission Guarantees (TAG)

SBCC has TAGs with the following campuses:

UC
- UC Davis
- UC Irvine
- UC Merced
- UC Riverside
- UC San Diego
- UC Santa Barbara
- UC Santa Cruz

And participates in UCLA’s
Transfer Alliance Program
that provides “priority consideration in admissions”
(* Requires completion of 6 honors courses)
Admission is a two-step process

- Eligibility = Meeting minimum requirements for transfer admission
- Selection = Choosing students for admission when a campus cannot admit all UC-eligible applicants
For UC Eligibility and Selection:

- Students should prepare for both when choosing courses
  - Meeting minimum requirements does not guarantee admission to campus/major of choice
  - General education courses should be appropriate for specific campus/major
  - Look for opportunities to meet eligibility, GE and major preparation requirements with same course
The process campuses use to select students for admission when the number of eligible applicants exceeds available spaces.

- Campuses apply eight criteria approved by University faculty.
  - In evaluating applications, all campuses place highest importance on academic achievement.
  - Evaluation process and weight of each factor varies by campus.
UC Selection Criteria

- Completion of major-preparation courses
- Completion of breadth/GE requirements
- GPA in all transferable courses
- Honors courses/programs
- Talents, achievements, awards
- Special college projects
- Accomplishments in light of life experiences
- Location of college or home
UC Grade Point Average

- Minimum 2.4 GPA on UC transferable course work assures eligibility, but not admission to a competitive campus or major.
  - 3.3 UC transferable GPA = average for 2007 admitted transfer students
  - Students should research selection criteria and admission requirements for desired campuses, majors.
  - Campuses like UC Berkeley and UCLA require much higher GPAs for admission.

- You must earn a C or better in each course when completing transfer eligibility 7-course pattern, major prep and IGETC.

- Courses taken for a Credit (CR) grade are OK (because SBCC certifies that it is equivalent to grade of C or better).
  - No more than 14 semester (21 quarter) units of the 60 required for eligibility may be taken for a Credit grade.
  - Major prep courses should be taken for a letter grade (A, B, C, etc) and not for CR.
UC Transfer Credit Limitations

- Maximum of 70 semester (105 quarter) transferable CCC units awarded credit toward UC graduation
  - Transferable units beyond this limit earn subject credit only.
- Maximum of 8 semester (12 quarter) ESL/ELD units awarded transfer credit.
- Maximum of 4 semester (6 quarter) physical education activity units awarded transfer credit.
- Maximum of 8 semester (12 quarter) units for physical education theory courses.
- Information about Credit Limitations is on the SBCC TCA located on www.assist.org
Welcome to UCTransfer.org!

If you plan to transfer to the University of California from a California Community College, you're in the right place. This Web site explains what you'll need to do to transfer and how you can make smart course choices now that will maximize your chances of being admitted to UC.

Because you're starting your path to a bachelor's degree at a California Community College, you're already on your way to success:

- UC gives priority admission to California Community College transfer students
- 8 of every 10 California Community College applicants are qualified and admitted
- Nearly one third of all UC bachelor's degrees go to transfer students
- On average,junior transfer students graduate after 2.4 years at UC

We created this site to help make your journey to UC as smooth as possible. First-time visitors should go through each section of the site starting with Choose Your Major/Campus. We'll be adding more information and tools to the site in the months ahead, so come back often, ask questions, and remember: You can do it!
Choose Your Major and Campus

What you study is an important personal decision. A major is a specialized field of undergraduate study, and your choice of major determines how you will spend the majority of your academic time and energy. To give yourself a chance to produce your very best work, choose a major that you find stimulating.

It's important that you choose your major as early as possible:

- In general, UC campuses admit transfer students to specific majors - there are few chances to get admitted undeclared.
- Admission to most majors and campuses is competitive, and being fully prepared for your major will improve your chance of admission.
- Choosing your major early lets you get you on track to completing requirements before you transfer.
- Changing majors is difficult once you're admitted, and will almost certainly delay your graduation.

Your choice of campus is also important:

- The majors offered at each campus are different.
- Each UC campus has unique features.
- You're more likely to do well academically in an environment you enjoy.
Understand Your Degree

You can start working on your UC bachelor's degree with your first term at a community college. This includes taking basic subjects like English and math, exploring different fields through electives and general education classes, and preparing for your major once you’ve got one in mind. You should also take courses that make you eligible for transfer admission. In many cases you can choose courses that apply to your transfer eligibility requirements, your major, and to General Education.

By the time you’re ready to transfer, UC expects that you will have completed (or nearly completed) the equivalent of the freshman and sophomore coursework you would have taken at UC to prepare you for your junior year in your chosen major.

The next pages provide more information about your UC degree.
You can follow one of three paths as you prepare for transfer. No matter which path you choose, you need to be eligible for admission, so be sure to review the Transfer Eligibility Requirements if you haven’t already.

As you prepare to transfer, you can:

1. Follow one of the UC Statewide Transfer Preparation Paths or one of the UC Campus Transfer Preparation Paths. Refer to articulation agreements in ASSIST to identify the specific community college courses to take, OR
2. Follow the lower-division degree requirements in a UC campus catalog. Refer to articulation agreements in ASSIST to identify the specific community college courses to take, OR
3. Sign and complete a Transfer Admission Guarantee.

The next pages provide more information about your possible paths to transfer.
www.uctransfer.org
Transfer Admission Guarantee

Seven UC campuses offer guaranteed admission to California community college students who meet specific requirements. By participating in a Transfer Admission Guarantee (TAG) program, students receive early review of their academic records, early admission notification, and specific guidance about major preparation and general education coursework.

The TAG matrix provides a list of participating campuses, eligibility criteria, and campus-specific notes.

To pursue a TAG:

1. Fill out a TAG form and review it with your community college counselor and/or UC campus TAG advisor before submitting it to your chosen campus.
2. When your TAG is approved, fulfill all remaining coursework and GPA requirements in your TAG agreement.
3. Apply for admission to UC during the appropriate filing period (see www.universityofcalifornia.edu/tag).
