Diagnostic Medical Sonography (DMS) Class of 2015 Outcomes:

The DMS program at SBCC is only offered every other year. In 2015 there was not a graduating class.

Diagnostic Medical Sonography (DMS) Class of 2014 Outcomes:

Program attrition rate: 12%. Twenty-five students were accepted into the cohort and twenty-two students graduated.

Job placement: Of the twenty-two students who graduated, 82% have successfully found employment. *Note: this not necessarily full-time employment.

Credential Success Rate: SBCC DMS program is accredited for general concentration only. Graduates are able take the national Sonography Principles and Instrumentation (SPI, or commonly referred to as physics) exam while in the program, and the abdomen (ABD) and OB/GYN boards immediately upon graduation.

For the class of 2014, 77% of the graduates were successful in becoming ABD credentialed.

For the class of 2014, 91% of the graduates were successful in becoming OB/GYN credentialed.